1.0 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Background

Chicago Southwest Development Corporation (Client) retained True North Consultants, Inc. (True North) to conduct fugitive particulate emission monitoring during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities performed at the Focal Point Community Campus Project located at the southwest corner of West 31st Street and South Kedzie Avenue in Chicago, Illinois (Site). Monitoring was conducted by a team of qualified environmental professionals over a period of eighty-four (84) work shifts during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities between the dates of June 24, 2025, and October 24, 2025.

1.2 Purpose

Fugitive particulate emission monitoring was conducted to verify that flatwork demolition and site remediation related work practices and engineering controls were sufficient to prevent elevated concentrations of airborne particulates from exceeding the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) levels and defined project specific action levels along the Site property boundaries. Monitoring was completed by utilizing direct-read instrumentation to monitor concentrations of particulate matter less than 10µm in size (PM10) and particulate matter less than 2.5 µm in size (PM2.5) along the property boundaries of the Site during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities. The results of PM10 monitoring were compared to the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 150 µg/m^3 (0.150 mg/m^3) calculated over a 24-hour period, and the Short-Term Exposure Limit (STEL) or "Action Level" concentration of 100 µg/m^3 (0.100 mg/m^3) calculated as a "sustained" reading of 15 minutes or more. The results of PM2.5 monitoring were compared to the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 35 µg/m^3 (0.35 mg/m^3) calculated over a 24-hour period. In order to supplement the findings of fugitive particulate emission monitoring, lead and respirable crystalline silica (RCS) monitoring was performed on a periodic basis to verify that concentrations of lead and RCS present at the upwind and downwind Site property boundaries were at acceptable levels.

1.3 General Information

Airborne particulate matter, or particulate pollution, is a complex mixture of airborne particulates and liquid droplets of various sizes, shapes, and composition originating from both manmade and naturally occurring sources. Airborne particulate matter is commonly grouped into either "coarse particles" or "fine particles". Coarse particles, also known as PM10, ranges between 2.5 µm and 10 µm in size and are often associated with dust from construction sites, landfills, agriculture, wildfires and brush/waste burning, industrial sources, wind-blown dust from open land, pollen, and/or biological fragments. Fine particles, also known as PM2.5, includes all particulates less than 2.5 µm in size and are commonly associated with various combustion related byproducts from power plants, vehicle exhaust emissions and other sources. PM2.5 is generally referred to as either "primary" or secondary". Primary PM2.5 refers to particulates directly emitted to the air as solid or liquid particles. Secondary PM2.5 refers to particulates formed by gaseous chemical reactions in the atmosphere.

Coarse particulates and fine particulates can easily be inhaled and deposited throughout an individual's airways due to the relatively small particle sizes. Fine particulates are more likely to travel and deposit deep into the lungs and may potentially even enter into the bloodstream. Coarse particulates are more likely to be expelled by the human body's natural defenses of foreign objects within the lungs. However, coarse particulates still have the potential to deposit within the upper region of the lungs but are not as likely to enter the bloodstream due to the relative size. Community exposure to airborne particulate matter may result in adverse health effects, especially for older adults, children and individuals with pre-existing heart or lung disease.

Due to the potential for health impacts relating to airborne particulate matter, the Clean Air Act required the EPA to establish and maintain the NAAQS for air pollutants, including airborne particulate matter, which may be harmful to public health and the environment. The NAAQS for particulate matter pollution specifies the maximum amount of particulate matter to be present in the air. The EPA NAAQS has established standards for particulate matter source emitters of 150 µg/m^3 averaged over 24-hours for PM10, and levels of 35 µg/m^3 averaged over 24-hours for PM2.5. The EPA has also established an annual particle pollution standard of 12 µg/m^3 for PM 2.5.

Respirable crystalline silica (RCS) is a general category of minerals which includes quartz, cristobalite, and tridymite. RCS is the respirable dust fraction of crystalline silica which enters the body by inhalation. It is commonly found in construction products, concrete products, paints, coating, and many other processes. Silica dust is hazardous when very small particles are inhaled. These respirable dust particles can penetrate deep into the lungs and cause disabling and sometimes fatal lung diseases, including silicosis and lung cancer, as well as kidney disease.

Lead is a naturally occurring metal that can be found in a wide variety of products including paint, ceramics, pipes and plumbing materials, solders, gasoline, batteries, and ammunition. Lead may enter the environment through current or past use. Exposure to lead dust has been associated with a wide variety of adverse health effects including neurological effects, gastrointestinal effects, anemia, and kidney disease.

Due to the toxicity of lead and RCS, the Occupational Health and Safety Administration (OSHA) has published various occupational exposure limits for exposure to these compounds including Action levels (ALs) and Permissible Exposure Limits (PELs) measured as an eight-hour time weighed average (8-Hour TWA). Although the purpose OSHA ALs and PELs is to provide occupational exposure limits for workers, and not meant for community exposure, these exposure levels serve as a proxy for comparison of lead and RCS monitoring results.

1.4 Scope

The scope of the services provided during the study consisted of the following activities:

- Meteorological Monitoring – Utilization of a Davis Vantage Vue portable weather station to record meteorological data during the monitoring period including temperature, relative humidity, precipitation, wind speed, and wind direction.
- Fugitive Particulate Monitoring – Utilization of four (4) DustTrak DRX Aerosol Monitors to simultaneously monitor PM10 and PM2.5 concentrations at four (4) locations along the property boundaries of the Site.
- Lead Air Monitoring – Utilization of active sampling methodology to collect lead air samples at the upwind property boundary, and downwind property boundary on a periodic basis

- Respirable Crystalline Silica Monitoring – Utilization of active sampling methodology to collect respirable crystalline silica (quartz) air samples at the upwind property boundary, and downwind property boundary on a periodic basis.
- Daily Summary Reports – Providing updates containing observations, and direct-read monitoring results for the specified monitoring period.
- Comprehensive Report – Providing a written report to the client including background information, methods, findings, and recommendations based upon the results of monitoring.

2.0 METHODS

2.1 Particulate Monitoring

Particulate monitoring was performed over a period of eighty-four (84) work shifts during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities. Monitoring was performed utilizing direct read TSI DustTrak DRX Monitors configured to simultaneously measure and log PM10 and PM2.5 concentrations over the duration of the sampling period.

A total of four (4) monitoring locations were selected to monitor along the property boundaries of the Site. The approximate locations of monitoring are identified in Figure 1. Each monitor was set up to monitor and record PM10 and PM2.5 concentrations during the sampling period.

Each monitor was configured for monitoring in accordance with manufacturer recommendations. Prior to the initiation of monitoring, each of the monitors were zero calibrated utilizing a zero filter. Monitors were affixed to sampling stands at a height of approximately four (4) to six (6) feet and were placed into operation.

In order to supplement direct-read particulate monitoring, work activities were observed throughout flatwork demolition and site remediation activities to verify that visible particulate emissions were not observed to be migrating off-site.

2.2 Meteorological Monitoring

A Davis Vantage Vue portable weather station was utilized to record meteorological data for the duration of the monitoring period including temperature, relative humidity, precipitation, wind speed, and wind direction.

2.3 Respirable Crystalline Silica and Lead Monitoring

Respirable crystalline silica (RCS) and lead monitoring was performed on a periodic basis over a period of fifteen (15) work shifts. Monitoring was performed utilizing Gillian brand low flow sampling pumps calibrated at a flow rate of 2.5 liters per minute for RCS. and 2.0 liters per minute for lead. RCS samples were collected by drawing a known volume of air through a pre-weighed 37mm polyvinyl chloride (PVC) filter (5.0-um pore size) placed in a three-piece open face cassette. Lead samples were collected by drawing a known volume of air through a 37-millimeter 0.8-micron mixed cellulose ester (MCE) filter. RCS monitoring was performed using an in-line SKC brand aluminum cyclone assembly. Each sampling pump was calibrated at the appropriate flow rate prior to initiating monitoring utilizing a TSI Model-4100 Primary Calibrator. The samples were collected at a height that would be representative of the typical breathing zone of individuals

(4'-6'). Prior to initiating sampling, sample media were labeled with a unique sample identification numb, and sample descriptions were recorded. Sample pumps were placed into operation mode at which point start times were recorded.

The pumps were maintained in operation for the duration of the sampling period during which time operations were periodically observed and information regarding site conditions, work practices and engineering controls was recorded for data interpretation purposes. At the completion of sampling, flow rates were verified, volumes were recorded, and sampling pumps were turned off. A total of two (2) field blanks were collected within each sample set for quality control purposes but were withheld from analysis. The samples were then containerized, and sample information was recorded utilizing strict chain-of-custody procedures prior to submittal for analysis.

Upon completion of sampling, samples were submitted to an American Industrial Hygiene Association (AIHA) accredited laboratory for analysis. RCS samples were analyzed utilizing X-Ray Power Diffraction (XRD) in accordance with OSHA Method ID-142. Lead samples were analyzed by inductively coupled argon plasma, atomic emission spectrometry (ICP-AES) in accordance with Modified NIOSH Method 7303. Analytical reports and chain-of-custody records can be found in Appendix B of this report.

3.0 FINDINGS

3.1 General Conditions

The Site is comprised of an irregular-shaped parcel comprising an approximately 10.8-acre tract of land immediately south of adjoining West 31st Street and bounded by South Kedzie Avenue to the east. The remediation site common address is identified as 3233 West 31st Street in Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. The Site parcel has historically been identified by the following addresses: 3201-3331 West 31st Street and 3100 South Kedzie Avenue. Figures 1 and 2 of this report illustrate the general location and site base map of the parcel herein referenced as the Site.

The Site lies in a part of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of Section 35, Township 39 North, Range 13 East of the Third Principal Meridian in Cook County, Illinois. The Site and surrounding properties can be characterized as a mix of commercial, industrial, and vacant.

Flatwork demolition activities at the Site consisted of demolishing of concrete slabs and footers to desired depth. The contractor utilized a mid-size excavator equipped with a hydraulic breaker to break the slab into manageable pieces. A skid steer or excavator with a bucket and thumb was then used to remove and load the broken concrete for disposal. Smaller tools like saws or jackhammers were used for edges or tight areas. In addition, the contractor sorted and staged demolition debris and loaded debris into trucks to be hauled off-site utilizing front end loaders and bobcats. The contractor utilized water suppression to the extent feasible throughout the project utilizing a BossTek DustBoss® suppression cannon.

Periodic visible emissions were observed to be generated during active flatwork demolition at the Site. Upon the observation of visible emissions being generated on-site, the contractor was notified, and work practices and engineering controls were implemented. Engineering controls that were implanted ranged from spraying more water on debris, stopping work activities in total until levels came back down, waiting for truck traffic to settle down prior to starting work activities back up. In addition, DustTrak DRX's were observed to verify that concentrations had not exceeded the project defined action levels.

3.2 Particulate Monitoring Results

Monitoring was conducted to verify that flatwork demolition and site remediation related work practice and engineering controls were sufficient to prevent elevated concentrations of airborne particulates from exceeding the EPA NAAQS and 15-minute interval (STEL) requirements. Monitoring was completed by utilizing direct-read instrumentation to monitor concentrations of PM10 and PM2.5 along the boundaries of the Site during demolition related activities. Results of monitoring were reported in micrograms per cubic meter (µg/m^3) of air. Instrumentations during certain days were not operating properly on a given monitoring station. True North worked with the providers to troubleshoot the problems onsite to get the instruments back up and working correctly. During these issues, the monitors were not collecting data. True North include a "N/A" notation in the "Average Concentration" and "Exceedances" columns for these instances. IF there were cases of exceedances marked "Yes" in the column, work was stopped and evaluated to ensure the levels came back down below the exceedance levels. Engineering controls consisted of work stoppage, utilizing more water or implanting different work methods. Throughout the project, levels of PM2.5 were above the limit if 35 µg/m^3 and noted "No*" under the exceedance column. In these cases, the levels were above the EPA NAAQS limit however they were below the "background concentrations" levels that were identified prior to work activities starting at the site. Site conditions during the time of July 31 – August 1, 2025, were negatively affected by the Canadian Wildfires to the north. Air quality alerts were issued for the entire Chicagoland areas during these dates. The PM10 and PM2.5 levels were affected by this and noted as No in the exceedance column. The following table summarizes the results of monitoring in relation to the project defined action levels:

Notes:

(2) Copies of data monitoring logs are provided in Appendix B of this report.

(3) No instantaneous measurements above STEL threshold of 100 µg/m^3.

(4) Note* - On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the perimeter of the property were believed to be more attributable to "background concentrations" within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors.

(5) Note - During work activities from July 31, 2025 – August 1, 2025, wildfires from Canada negatively affected the ambient air and levels of all PM10 particulate matter were elevated throughout this time. Air quality alerts were issued city wide during these days. Readings during this time period were considered "skewed" and not indicative of daily site activities.

3.4 Respirable Crystalline Silica and Lead Monitoring Results

RCS and lead air monitoring was performed at the Site to evaluate the concentrations of contaminants present along the property boundaries during demolition activities. The following tables summarize the results of monitoring in relation to the applicable exposure limits:

4.0 DISCUSSION

4.1 Overview

Fugitive particulate emission monitoring was conducted to verify that flatwork demolition and site remediation related work practice and engineering controls were sufficient to prevent elevated concentrations of airborne particulates from exceeding the EPA NAAQS and 15-minute interval (STEL) requirements. Monitoring was completed by utilizing direct-read instrumentation to monitor concentrations of PM10 and PM2.5 along the property boundaries of the Site during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities. The results of PM10 monitoring were compared to the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 150 µg/m^3 calculated over a 24-hour period, and the Short-Term Exposure Limit (STEL) concentration of 100 µg/m^3 calculated as a "sustained" reading of 15 minutes or more. The results of PM2.5 monitoring were compared to the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 35 µg/m^3 calculated over a 24-hour period. In order to supplement the findings of fugitive particulate emission monitoring, lead and respirable crystalline silica monitoring was performed on a periodic basis to verify that concentrations of lead and respirable crystalline silica present at the upwind and downwind Site property boundaries were at acceptable levels.

4.1.1 PM10 Particulate Monitoring Results

Based upon the results of fugitive particulate emission monitoring during flatwork demolition and site remediation activities, PM10 concentrations were detected above the STEL concentration of 100 µg/m^3 calculated as a "sustained" reading of 15 minutes or more, on thirty-three (33) of the eighty-four (84) shifts. Upon the identification of STEL exceedances, the demolition contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site.

The concentrations of PM10 (calculated as an eight-hour time weighted average) were not detected above the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 150 µg/m^3, calculated over a 24-hour period, throughout the duration of the project.

During work activities from July 31, 2025 – August 1, 2025, wildfires from Canada negatively affected the ambient air and levels of all PM10 particulate matter were elevated throughout this time. Air quality alerts were issued city wide during these days. Readings collected during this period were considered skewed due to regional wildfire smoke impacts and are not representative of typical site conditions or routine site activities.

4.1.2 PM2.5 Particulate Monitoring Results

Based upon the results of Fugitive Particulate emission monitoring during flatwork demolition and site remediation activities, PM2.5 concentrations (calculated as an eight-hour time weighted average) were detected above the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 35 µg/m^3, calculated over a 24-hour period, on thirty (30) of eighty-four (84) shifts. However, the PM2.5 concentrations were suspected to be more attributable to "background" concentrations present within area on the subject dates of monitoring.

During work activities from July 31, 2025 – August 1, 2025, wildfires from Canada negatively affected the ambient air and levels of all PM10 particulate matter were elevated throughout this time. Air quality alerts were issued city wide during these days. Accordingly, readings collected during this period were influenced by regional wildfire smoke and are not representative of typical site conditions or routine site activities.

4.1.3 Respirable Crystalline Silica and Lead Monitoring Results

Based upon the results of RCS and lead monitoring performed on a periodic basis during flatwork demolition and site remediation activities, the concentrations of RCS were elevated over the Action Level (AL) of 25 µg/m^3 twice (2) out of the fifteen (15) shifts. While these readings were over the (AL), no readings were found to be over the Permissible Exposure Level (PEL) of 50 µg/m^3. The action level is typically set at half the permissible exposure limit (PEL). This means that when worker exposure reaches the action level, certain regulatory requirements must be initiated, such as monitoring and training. The PEL represents the maximum legal limit of exposure to a hazardous substance, while the action level serves as an early warning threshold to prevent exceeding the PEL. All lead samples remained below the analytical limit of quantification.

5.0 CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

5.1 Conclusions

Chicago Southwest Development Corporation retained True North to conduct fugitive particulate emission monitoring during flatwork demolition and site remediation related activities performed at the Focal Point Community Campus Project located at the southwest corner West 31st Street and South Kedzie Avenue in Chicago, Illinois.

Based upon the results fugitive particulate emission monitoring during flatwork demolition and site remediation activities, PM10 concentrations were detected above the STEL concentration of 100 µg/m^3, calculated as a “sustained” reading of 15 minutes or more, on thirty-three (33) of the eighty-four (84) shifts. Upon the identification of STEL exceedances, the demolition contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. However, the concentrations of PM10 (calculated as an eight-hour time weighted average) remained below the EPA NAAQS limit of 150 µg/m^{3,} calculated over a 24-hour period, along the property boundaries during active flatwork demolition and site remediation activities performed at the Site.

PM2.5 concentrations (calculated as an eight-hour time weighted average) were detected above the EPA NAAQS maximum allowable concentration of 35 µg/m^3, calculated over a 24-hour period, on thirty (30) of eighty-four (84) shifts. However, the PM2.5 concentrations were suspected to be more attributable to “background” concentrations present within area on the subject dates of monitoring.

Data obtained from RCS and lead monitoring was utilized to supplement the findings of fugitive particulate emission monitoring. The concentrations of RCS were elevated over the Action Level (AL) of 25 µg/m^3 twice (2) out of the fifteen (15) shifts. While these readings were over the (AL), no readings were found to be over the Permissible Exposure Level (PEL) of 50 µg/m^3. All lead remained below the analytical limit of quantification. Therefore, it appears that work practices and dust suppression controls at the Site were sufficient to maintain fugitive particulate emissions to within specified limits.

5.2 Recommendations

If future demolition or remediation activities are conducted at the Site, implementation of appropriate and available control technologies—consistent with the dust suppression and exposure control measures employed during the current project—is recommended to minimize particulate matter emissions and maintain concentrations within applicable regulatory limits.

Airborne Particulate Monitoring Summary Report
June 24, 2025

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on June 24, 2025, PM10 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project specific Action Levels or the NAAQS Levels

- Visible emissions were observed along the East property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods while scraping of vegetation to expose the water main valve.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities along the east property boundary determined PM2.5 concentrations to range between 0.051 mg/m^3 - 0.117 mg/m^3 indicating that active environmental remediation activities appear to have had a negligible effect on PM2.5 concentrations along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring.

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Partly Cloudy
Prevailing Wind Direction:	SW 6-14 mph
Temperature Range:	69°F - 85°F
Relative Humidity Range (%):	46% – 65%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Airborne Particulate Monitoring Summary Report
July 8, 2025

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on July 8, 2025, PM10 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project specific Action Levels or the NAAQS Levels.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the perimeter of the property were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Airborne Particulate Monitoring Summary Report
July 23, 2025

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on July 23, 2025, PM10 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project-specific Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the perimeter of the property were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 concentrations along the property boundary were elevated prior to the start of site activities and appear to have been influenced by off-site sources.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Temperature Range:	69°F - 78°F
Relative Humidity Range (%):	45% – 68%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on July 31, 2025, concentrations of particulates along all property boundaries were detected above the project specific Action Levels throughout the entire monitoring event. These conditions were observed prior to the start of remediation activities for the day. It should also be noted that regional air quality was affected by wildfire smoke present in the area. Visible emissions were also not observed during the aforementioned event. The environmental remediation contractor was advised of the exceedances, and work practices and engineering controls were modified to reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No additional exceedances of the project specific PM10 Action Level or NAAQS regulatory limits were identified during the remainder of the work shift.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the perimeter of the property were believed to be more attributable to wildfire smoke within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

Relative Humidity Range (%):	45% – 82%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on August 8, 2025, PM10 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project-specific Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the perimeter of the property were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 concentrations along the property boundary were elevated prior to the start of site activities and appear to have been influenced by off-site sources.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Relative Humidity Range (%):	58% – 87%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on August 21, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the east boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 12:48pm - 1:03pm. Visible emissions were not observed during the aforementioned events. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 or PM2.5 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

Relative Humidity Range (%):	42% – 74%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on August 25, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the east boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 8:15am - 8:30am and 2:30pm - 2:45pm. Visible emissions were not observed during the aforementioned events. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the north property boundary were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 concentrations along the property boundaries were elevated prior to the start of site activities and appear to have been influenced by off-site sources.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on September 10, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the east boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 7:00am -7:15am. Visible emissions were not observed during the aforementioned events. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the east property boundary was believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

(2) TWA = Time Weighted Average (Daily Average)

(3) STEL = Short Term Exposure Limit (Maximum 15-Minute Average)

(4) NAAQS = National Ambient Air Quality Standards

(5) No instantaneous measurements above STEL threshold of 0.100 mg/m^3

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Mostly Cloudy
Prevailing Wind Direction:	NE 12-18 mph
Temperature Range:	64°F - 74°F
Relative Humidity Range (%):	55% – 76%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on September 24, 2025, PM10 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project specific Action Levels or the NAAQS Levels.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the east property boundary were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Airborne Particulate Monitoring Summary Report
October 9, 2025

Air monitoring was performed along the property boundaries of the subject site to evaluate the levels of airborne particulates present during environmental remediation-related activities. The following table summarizes the results of daily monitoring:

Table 1: Fugitive Dust Emission Monitoring Results)

Sample Location	Sample Date	PM 10 (mg/m^3)			PM 2.5 (mg/m^3)		Action Level Exceedance (Yes / No)
		Daily Average (TWA)	15 Min Max (STEL)	NAAQS Limit (Action Level)	Daily Average (TWA)	NAAQS Limit (Action Level)
North Property Boundary	10/09/2025	0.011	0.027	0.150	0.005	0.035	No
South Property Boundary	10/09/2025	0.010	0.040	0.150	0.009	0.035	No
East Property Boundary	10/09/2025	0.030	0.084	0.150	0.018	0.035	No
West Property Boundary	10/09/2025	0.014	0.254	0.150	0.007	0.035	Yes

Notes:

(1) mg/m^3 = milligrams per cubic meter

(2) TWA = Time Weighted Average (Daily Average)

(3) STEL = Short Term Exposure Limit (Maximum 15-Minute Average)

(4) NAAQS = National Ambient Air Quality Standards

(5) No instantaneous measurements above STEL threshold of 0.100 mg/m^3

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Fair
Prevailing Wind Direction:	E/SE 3-13 mph
Temperature Range:	49°F - 63°F
Relative Humidity Range (%):	44% – 63%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on October 9, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the west boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 12:10pm-12:25pm. Visible emissions were observed during the aforementioned events originating from on-site grading work. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 and PM2.5 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

(4) NAAQS = National Ambient Air Quality Standards

(5) No instantaneous measurements above STEL threshold of 0.100 mg/m^3

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Mostly Cloudy
Prevailing Wind Direction:	SW 7-16 mph
Temperature Range:	50°F - 68°F
Relative Humidity Range (%):	43% – 66%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on October 10, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the south boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 12:15pm-12:30pm. Visible emissions were not observed during the aforementioned event. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the south property boundary was believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Overcast.
Prevailing Wind Direction:	S 6-8 mph
Temperature Range:	55°F - 66°F
Relative Humidity Range:	45-57%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on October 17, 2025, concentrations of particulates along the south boundary were detected above the project specific Action Levels from 1:59pm-2:14pm. Visible emissions were not observed during the aforementioned events. The environmental remediation contractor was notified promptly of the exceedances and work practices and engineering controls were modified to further reduce particulate emissions at the Site. No further exceedances of the project-specific PM10 Action Levels or the NAAQS regulatory limits were observed for the remainder of the work shift.

On the specified date of monitoring, the PM2.5 concentrations detected along the south property boundary were believed to be more attributable to “background concentrations” within the area rather than site operations based upon the following factors:

- No visible emissions were observed along the property boundaries during the noted monitoring periods.
- PM2.5 monitoring data collected during baseline investigation activities indicated higher concentrations than those recorded along the property boundaries on the date of monitoring. These results suggest that the environmental remediation activities had a negligible effect on PM2.5 levels at the property boundaries.

Ambient Conditions

Weather Conditions:	Overcast.
Prevailing Wind Direction:	E 11-16 mph
Temperature Range:	46°F - 50°F
Relative Humidity Range:	55-68%

Particulate action levels were established based upon the National Ambient Air Quality Standard (NAAQS) regulatory limits of 0.150 mg/m^3 for PM10, and 0.035 mg/m^3 for PM2.5 averaged over a 24-hour period. Any sustained readings above the aforementioned regulatory limits for a period of 15 minutes or more (Action Levels) were used to indicate the need for additional work practice and engineering controls.

The south property boundary monitoring equipment experienced operational issues throughout the monitoring period which prevented collection of fugitive emissions data.

Based upon the results of particulate monitoring on October 22, 2025, PM10 and PM2.5 concentrations along the property boundaries were not identified above the project specific Action Levels or the NAAQS Levels.
